Kettle Bridge Clogs have been promoting the folk dance traditions of the North West for 27 years now. They have a great time displaying these dances locally, across the UK and abroad. And we are now looking for new members!

On Tuesday 27th September 2011 the side is offering an opportunity for all females who may be interested to come along and have a go at this kind of dancing. It will be a fun evening where dance moves from a variety of North West dances will be taught. And it will be free!!! If you enjoy that evening, you can then come along and learn some more. The side is always keen to attract new dancers to join the team. Full tuition is given. If you would like to help preserve one of the English traditions, enjoy a sociable time with good friends, have lots of fun whilst also keeping fit, this may be the thing for you.
